Jaycees Insulate Project Warmth

The Lowell Area Jaycees and the East Kent Community Center on Grand River Drive, Lowell, have insulated their first home under the jointly sponsored project "Project Warmth." Last Saturday, the Henry M. house at 3742 Grand River Drive, Lowell, was insulated with blow-type insulation by the Jaycee members.

Participating in the actual insulation process, given previous coverage in Chapter 1, were E. Paul (Paul) D. Kerekes, 41, of 1319 E. Fulton, Lowell; Mike Mel Bulck, 35, of 1624 Grand River Drive, Lowell; Keiser Phillips, 28, of 1423 S. Washington, and Larry Keiser, project chairman.

According to Keiser, the winterization program is being funded by a $500 "Operation Maintenance" Jaycees grant. As additional $500 towards the project has been received through the Community Center's Advisory Board. These resources originated from the Lowell Community Chest and are being directed to help individuals in need of assistance.

Last week, the committee绝缘ed three homes, the Henry M. house, Grand and Allen drives, and one on Second Street.

"We still have several qualifying homes to evaluate," Keiser added, "which should bring the project to completion by June 1.

Homes eligible for the service are processed through the East Kent Center and screened first by the Jaycees for inspection.

The first home, for example, was inspected three times before it was decided to be insulated, and the other two are expected to become a part of "Project Warmth" in the immediate future.

"We will still have several qualifying homes to evaluate," Keiser added, "which should bring the project to completion by June 1.

Lowell City Council received a communication from the State Highway Department this week asking that it participate in a project to provide some federal aid to the City of Lowell in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

The request came in as a part of the Main Street reaping and improvement project scheduled for this summer. The effect of the parking ban was taken to the city council but no action was taken to reply to the request.

Mel Bulck, Lowell's mayor, appeared at Monday's council meeting to request that his beer and wine business, the Hekman Beverage Co., be divided into two groups before being brought to the council for the first time in 1909, that the Lowell Community Development Board and the Lowell Area Jaycees originate from the Juvenile Court.

His attorney, Fred Althaus, challenged the City Council's request for $3,000 in the running to receive some federal aid.

The Lowell Community Development Board, on the other hand, is expected to receive federal aid in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

State Calls For Elimination Of Parking On Main Street

As He Retires

His attorney, Fred Althaus, challenged the City Council's request for $3,000 in the running to receive some federal aid.

The Lowell Community Development Board, on the other hand, is expected to receive federal aid in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

Mr. Johnson, at this time, will conduct a workshop for students and parents of "Weighing the Occupational Options".

The program will also feature a lawyer, who will answer any questions involving the legal aspects of the project.

The workshop will be held at the Calumet School, and the students and parents will be divided into two groups before being brought to the council for the first time in 1909, that the Lowell Community Development Board and the Lowell Area Jaycees originate from the Juvenile Court.

His attorney, Fred Althaus, challenged the City Council's request for $3,000 in the running to receive some federal aid.

The Lowell Community Development Board, on the other hand, is expected to receive federal aid in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

Mr. Johnson, at this time, will conduct a workshop for students and parents of "Weighing the Occupational Options".

The program will also feature a lawyer, who will answer any questions involving the legal aspects of the project.

The workshop will be held at the Calumet School, and the students and parents will be divided into two groups before being brought to the council for the first time in 1909, that the Lowell Community Development Board and the Lowell Area Jaycees originate from the Juvenile Court.

His attorney, Fred Althaus, challenged the City Council's request for $3,000 in the running to receive some federal aid.

The Lowell Community Development Board, on the other hand, is expected to receive federal aid in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

Mr. Johnson, at this time, will conduct a workshop for students and parents of "Weighing the Occupational Options".

The program will also feature a lawyer, who will answer any questions involving the legal aspects of the project.

The workshop will be held at the Calumet School, and the students and parents will be divided into two groups before being brought to the council for the first time in 1909, that the Lowell Community Development Board and the Lowell Area Jaycees originate from the Juvenile Court.

His attorney, Fred Althaus, challenged the City Council's request for $3,000 in the running to receive some federal aid.

The Lowell Community Development Board, on the other hand, is expected to receive federal aid in the form of a grant to construct a new high school.

Mr. Johnson, at this time, will conduct a workshop for students and parents of "Weighing the Occupational Options".

The program will also feature a lawyer, who will answer any questions involving the legal aspects of the project.

The workshop will be held at the Calumet School, and the students and parents will be divided into two groups before being brought to the council for the first time in 1909, that the Lowell Community Development Board and the Lowell Area Jaycees originate from the Juvenile Court.
Learn About Reading Programs

The Lowell Women's Club and Wednesday, March 27, sponsored a reading program for students of Lowell, with the participants, Mrs. Harry Robertson, School Resource Director, and Mr. Harvey Blackman, Librarian, of the Fairview School. Also participating were Mrs. Mabel Green, President of the Library Board, and Miss Carol Hamilton, who represented the reading consultants of the Lowell Area schools.

The program was conducted in the Reading Center of the Lowell High School and was attended by 150 students. The participants discussed the importance of reading and the benefits it provides. The event was well received by the students, who expressed enthusiasm and interest in the topic.

Lowell Child Care Council

The C-C-A club held its 15th anniversary celebration on Thursday morning. The club was organized in 1959 to provide a reading program for students of Lowell. The club has since grown to become one of the largest in the state, with over 150 members.

The club meets every Thursday morning at the Lowell High School. The meetings are open to the public and are free of charge. The club's program includes reading sessions, workshops, and social events.

Save $1.50 when you buy two...
Sharon Kastanek and Debra DesJarden.

Teresa's home for lunch after shopping and to Cheryl's.

Cascade Hills HANDMADE CANDLES
Mrs. Ralph Wheaton-642-6136-©

GILMORE'S SPORTING GOODS
CALCULATORS, 8 DIG. $24.95/UP

Painting-Repairing-Welding
897-9451

SWELL AUTOMOTIVE
ANTENNAS - ROTORS
PARTS - ACCESSORIES - REPAIRS

Sharon Kastanek and Debra DesJarden.

Teresa's home for lunch after shopping and to Cheryl's.

Cascade Hills HANDMADE CANDLES
Mrs. Ralph Wheaton-642-6136-©

GILMORE'S SPORTING GOODS
CALCULATORS, 8 DIG. $24.95/UP

Painting-Repairing-Welding
897-9451

SWELL AUTOMOTIVE
ANTENNAS - ROTORS
PARTS - ACCESSORIES - REPAIRS

Sharon Kastanek and Debra DesJarden.

Teresa's home for lunch after shopping and to Cheryl's.

Cascade Hills HANDMADE CANDLES
Mrs. Ralph Wheaton-642-6136-©

GILMORE'S SPORTING GOODS
CALCULATORS, 8 DIG. $24.95/UP

Painting-Repairing-Welding
897-9451

SWELL AUTOMOTIVE
ANTENNAS - ROTORS
PARTS - ACCESSORIES - REPAIRS

Sharon Kastanek and Debra DesJarden.

Teresa's home for lunch after shopping and to Cheryl's.

Cascade Hills HANDMADE CANDLES
Mrs. Ralph Wheaton-642-6136-©

GILMORE'S SPORTING GOODS
CALCULATORS, 8 DIG. $24.95/UP

Painting-Repairing-Welding
897-9451

SWELL AUTOMOTIVE
ANTENNAS - ROTORS
PARTS - ACCESSORIES - REPAIRS

Sharon Kastanek and Debra DesJarden.

Teresa's home for lunch after shopping and to Cheryl's.
A TRIBUTE TO A GREAT MAN... NORTON LOUIS AVERY

On Saturday, March 22, one of Lowell's premier citizens will celebrate his eighty-first birthday. His life's work in photography has earned him the respect and admiration of generations, and his contributions to the art form will continue to inspire for years to come.

Norton Avery's birthday is a fitting tribute to his dedication and passion for photography. Born in 1927 in Lansing, he moved with his family to Willow Road during his early years. Norton was fortunate to come from a family that encouraged his interests and supported his efforts to pursue photography as a profession.

The entire Avery family became interested in photography, and Norton's father, Hoyt Avery, was an influential force in his life. Norton was exposed to his father's talents and developed an interest in photography in 1969. He soon returned to portrait work and also became involved in the 4-H photography project judging, which has been an important role for him over the past decade.

Norton Avery's knack for capturing the ordinary things he and most people see has always been a hallmark of his work. "Slow Me Down, Lord!" was being produced, and Norton Avery and his sons, Hoyt and Keith, spent many days and weeks together photographing the unchanging aspects of life. They are always willing to offer suggestions and criticism for those interested in photography.

This priceless photograph taken by Avery, showing his sons, Hoyt and Keith doing a little fishing on the Pictured Rocks National Lakeshore, is a testament to Norton Avery's dedication to his craft. "And they lived happily ever after, including the duck."
City Of Lowell
Council Proceedings

Official Proceedings of the City Council of the City of Lowell, Massachusetts, March 10, 1975.

The President of the Lowell and an invocation was given by Father B. Call. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

Councilman Rogers asked for information on the value of properties in the city. The City Manager explained that the assessment process is ongoing and that the figures would be available in a few weeks.

Councilman Call asked about the status of the proposed water treatment plant. The City Manager stated that the bids were still being evaluated and that a decision would be made in the near future.

Councilman Rogers asked about the progress of the traffic lights project. The City Manager stated that the project was on schedule and that the lights would be installed in the coming weeks.

Councilman Call asked about the status of the city's budget. The City Manager explained that the budget was still under review and that a final decision would be made at the next meeting.

The Council proceeded to discuss various topics, including the proposed construction of a new park, the installation of new sidewalks, and the expansion of the city's library system.

The meeting adjourned at 9:00 p.m.
Green Cap Ceremonies

Honor Janet Bovee

The number of local school districts in Michigan has dropped to 592 following the consolidation of districts and 62 non-K-I2 districts for a total of 592. Members to keep their membership in good standing with a special program of interest to all being planned. On April 7, the Chapter will hold their regular monthly business meeting in their club rooms, at 8 p.m., with a special program of interest in being planned. Mrs. Cora Stormzand, Senior Regent, reminds all members to keep their membership in good standing by being active, and attending meetings regularly.

BOVEE.

Strand Theatre

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

LOWELL BUSINESS STUDENTS PLACE SECOND AND THIRD

Two Lowell High School students, Linda Conrad and Jeff Richardson, placed high in the Grand Rapids Junior College sponsored Business Competition Day program. This year, the program trained team competition in 11 different business courses offered in high schools. Twenty-eight schools with a total of 308 students took part in the competition offered by the Grand Rapids college.