Lowell officer fatally shoots knife-wielding assailant

Lowell's 'Fourth' is a huge success

A beaming Barry Vestvo accepts a Lowell Showboat check for $1,000 for Showboat Treasurer Virgil Higgins. Vestvo won the second prize in Monday's Showboat drawing on a ticket that he bought that day...a pretty good return on his $10 investment. Barry's daughter Angela is perched atop his shoulders and his wife Pat looks on...probably thinking of ways to spend the money.

The winners, by age group, were: 1st place winners, 4 and under Steve Rottier; all Ist place winners, 5 & 6 Marcie Payne and Jason Carpenter, 7 & 8 Karla Carpenter and Aarne Stebner, 9 & 10 Kim Carpenter and Debra Bigger, 11 & over Linda Keim, and the best costume prize went to Aaron and Marcus Edwards, all of the Ada Primary School. They competed in a 3-4 or five teams. The Miss Carolina crown was won by Chuck and Jacob Wright, of Lowell and their wives Deb and Kim Wright took the women's costume competition.

The coed-volleyball tournament was won by a team called "Bob's Bombers" consisting of Sue Berg, Mona Berg, Jeff Hendrick, Teri Hendrick, Rick Billings and Tom Hemstreet. The team swept through the tourney undefeated and will donate their first place trophy to the Special Olympics.

All in all, the event was a huge success, with good weather, a good turnout and a really fun time had by the thousands who attended. Planners are already talking about next year.
