The dry goods, hardware, clothing and furniture stores will be closed at six o'clock; the groceries, shoestores jewelry stores and meat markets at six-thirty; and the drug stores at seven thirty.

It is hoped that the people will encourage this up-to-date movement. which is a good thing for the storekeepers, clerks and the public, by doing their trading during the day-time instead of waiting until night.

ITS MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

The Lowell State Bank reports that on Saturday, December, 30th, 1905, it closed the most successful year of its 15 years of business. On that day it distributed to its stockholders its regular semi-annual dividend of 5 per cent. Since its organization in 1891 the Lowell State Bank has paid in dividends to its stockholders the sum of $30.750.00, or $5,750.00 more than its capital stock, an average dividend of over 8 per cent for each year. This bank has now deposits o over $196,000.00 and has loans of $150,000.00 and during the past five years has not lost one cent by reason of an unpaid loan.-[Com.

It was raining and the snow underfoot was getting slushy and gray. The sky was low and leaden-and the telephone bell kept on ringing. The woman was out of temper when she went to answer it. A certain dressmaker was ready, now, after a long wait, to finish her a gown, but the woman thought just then that she didn't care if she never again saw a new gown. She answered sharply and hung up the receiver with a bang. On her desk beside the fire was a great bowl of red roses from the man who worshiped at her shrine. Beside it was a letter from the man at whose shrine she worshiped. She picked up the letter and read it again, perhaps for the dozenth time.

THE people of Almont uphold the pupils of their public schools in insubordination and meanness. For years the teachers have been subjected to insult and rebellion; and in the last instance a jury of business men, afraid of losing thirty cents' worth of trade, gave a verdict of "not guilty" in favor of a mob of boys and girls, who charivaried a teacher whom they had determined to dislike before they had ever seen her, simply because her name is Susan, and by the shock hastened the death of sick woman next door. The teacher has very properly resigned; and the school has a well-deserved reputation for worthlessness throughout the state. One member of the school board said that the young people ought to be punished; but inasmuch as his own daughter was one of the offenders, he felt obliged to prevent it. Having confessedly failed in his duty to the public, he should resign at once. No school can be worthy the name under such circumstances.

AN EASTERN court has decided that the Royal Arcanum officials had no right to increase the rate of assessment beyond that established when the individual joined. If the increase had been made in the form of more frequent assessments, treating all alike, instead of the rankly unjust discrimination against old men who had maintained the order for many years, there would have been no trouble. It is highly creditable to the rank and file of the Arcanum that it would not stand for injustice, even though the younger element might temporarily profit thereby.

Some time ago, from the Sunny South came a note of censure on the editorial policy of this paper. Now, we hear an angry voice from the Wild and Woolly West. If these friends will put their protests in form for publication we will cheerfully give them space; but they and all others may as well understand right now that we will not write to Patagonia or Kamchatka for permission to express our sentiments. If they want that sort of a paper they had better order it from Turkey.

THE college section of the Illinois Teachers' association has gone on record as unequivocally opposed to athletics as they now exist. Those who have persisted in maintaining the brutal features of football are responsible for this and similar action being taken in different parts of the country. Football must be reformed or abolished. It is for its votaries to say which.

THE Russian army having conquered the revolutionists, it is announced that the reforms previously promised will now not be granted. In view of the bloody work of the past few months, the civilized world will not care much if the Russians have to carry the Czar's yoke for another century. What they need just now is free schools, not a liberal government.

-----AN ARMY lieutenant has been court-martialed for refusing to sit near the sergeant of his company in a theater. The fellow acted contemptibly and deserves punishment; but did he not come honestly by his false ideas? Is he the first Army officer to give the lie to the Declaration's key note, "That all men are created equal?"

JOHN A. MCCALL, who has resigned his presidency of the New York Life Insurance company under a cloud, is incensed against the newspapers for their share in the work. His resentment is certainly more complimentary to the press than his good will would be.

Some may have thought the definition of cigaret, as pub-lished in our last issue, a little rough, unless they have since read of the Springfield young man made a maniac by smoking the "coffin nails." It seems useless to moralize; but it is right to state facts. Let those heed who will.

No, wE will not give ten cents toward the proposed fund to buy Alice Roosevelt a wedding present; but will cheerfully contribute ten dollars for asylums in which to confine the idiots. who by such idolatrous freaks bring contempt upon the American people.

THE prediction, seemingly well-founded, that 1906 will witness the greatest industrial activity ever known, is interesting reading. It is well to note that the basis of calculations is the crop reports; and not the gambling operations of Wall street.

MAYOR MCCLELLAN says his only ambition is to leave New York City better than he found it. That is good; but it would have been better still had he started with an honest election.

THE Grand Rapids Herald alludes to THE LEDGER as an "honest Democrat organ." Its intention is complimentary; but this paper is no party organ. Its aim is "honest" independence in all things.

Effect of Rain Upon Animals.

The effects of a rainy day upon animals of a zoo." said a keeper the other day, "are as interesting to watch as anything I know in connection with a collection of beasts. Now, that big wolf over there just revels in a rainy day, and skips about as gay as you please. All the wolves are the same. Rain cheers them up. But the lions are different. They fret and growl and snarl unless you give them an extra allowance of meat or will sleep, but a rainy day seems to get on the nerves of a lion or any of the cat family. Snakes are kept in just a certain temperature all the time, and you would think that the damp air would never reach them. Perhaps it doesn't, but I have always noticed that all the reptiles are active and cheerful, if a reptile can be said to be cheerful, when it rains. The deer family, the bears, various corts of wild goats and the like don't seem to mind the rain a bit. Birds, however, are the most disconsolate, dreary things in the world on a rainy day. They don't sing, hardly chirp, but just settle down to be as miserable as possible."

ine Moon's Triumph. "The sun is all very well," said an old Irishman, "but the moon is of the prisoners, of the worth ten of it." "Why?" asked his guns and trophies the war could still friend. "Because the moon affords have been carried on. Yet Marengo, us light in the night when we want a mere skirmish in comparison to it, whereas the sun's with us in the those battles of giants, decided the davtime when we have no occasion fate of a nation. THIS is the greatest magazine combination offer ever made to American people. There is nothing to equal it in the history of the publishing business. Each magazine is the leader of its class—the greatest and best in the world. The three cover the entire magazins field and are a unique and desirable collection, filling exactly the needs of American home, and at unheard of remarkably low price. Order to day, Don't put it off.

Women's Home Companion

is not excelled by any other home and family publication in the world in beauty, fashion, fiction, art aud illustration, helps, hints and entertainments, special articles, artistic features, fine paper, superior printing, boy's and girl's depart-ments, household apartments, knitting, crocheting and all faffcywork. The Help-One-Another Club and scores of other exclusive features.

In one year the WOMAN'S HOME COMPANION gives to the subscriber at least sixty complete stories, two serial stories, more than one thousand pictures and illustrations, hundreds of the newest and most correct fashions-and furnishes paper patterns for each one at ten cents each-scores of special articles, and hundreds, and even thousands, of other helpful and interesting suggestions and advice.

The Review of Reviews

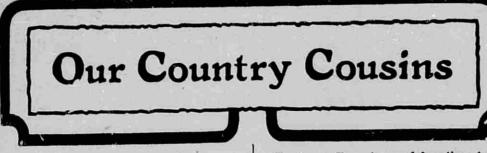

Many other publications are desirable, and you may prefer this or prefer that fiction and art publication, but "Review of Reviews" is necessary. Substantial American men and women are going to keep up with the times and they are going to take the shortest cut—which is "The Review of Reviews." Twelve hundred pictures a year, departments giving the best that is in all the other important magazines all over the world; timely and informing articles almost as fresh and full of news interest as a daily paper; and Dr. Albert Shaw's interpretation of the public men, events, and issues of the month, in "The Progress of the World."

MALARIA? ? ?

Generally That' is Not the Trouble. Persons with a susceptibility to malarial influences should beware of coffee, which has a tendency to lead up the liver with bile.

A lady writes from Denver that she suffered for years from chills and fever which at last she learned were mainly produced by the coffee she drank. "I was also grievously afflicted with headaches and indigestion," she says, "which I became satisfied were likewise largely due to the coffee l drank. Six months ago I quit its use altogether and began to drink Postum Food Coffee, with the gratifying result that my headaches have disappeared. my digestion has been restored and 1 have not had a recurrence of chills and fever for more than three months. I have no doubt that it was Postum that brought me this relief, for I have used no medicine while this improvement has been going on."
