Some localities are going to find it hard to get clean seed next spring, particularly where spraying for late blight hasn't been practiced. The war steps in and raises the price of potato starch from 3 1/4 to 6c a pound. Germany can't move her supply. Maine has a corner on the potato starch market in this country.

Another farm building has been converted into an apple storage.

This time on the farm of Lloyd Hill in Alpine township. A 4x48 implement shed has been remodeled to hold 8,000 bushels of apples plus a crate storage over head.

The Kew City Farm Bureau will soon move into its combination store, office and warehouse.

The building is 36x78 with a full basement, a warehouse, office and retail store. It is a much needed addition to the organization.

Mr. and Mrs. William Scott of Caledonia have remodeled their home, putting a full basement under the house, adding a kitchen and making many modern improvements.

Emmett Davis, of Oakfield, has a two story 24x60 foot poultry house under construction.

Earl McDermid of Lowell is remodeling a barn, putting a full basement under the same and adding interior improvements.

Three boys, presidents of their respective F. A. Chapters, attended the annual convention of the National Association at Kansas City, Missouri last week.

The boys were Robert Clark of Lowell; Archie Cummings of Sparta; and Robert Swartz of Caledonia. They went with a delegation from Michigan traveling by special train.

They report a fine meeting and came home with plenty of inspiration.

The 1939-1940 4-H Clothing and Handcraft season is getting underway with many older clubs reorganizing and plenty of requests from new communities for information.

All clubs should be organized and under way by Dec. 15. Eleanor Denmore, Home Demonstration Agent, reports prospects of a record enrollment in clothing clubs and the same prospect is in view for handicraft work.

Leaders of both projects will meet November 15 to confer with State leaders in regard to the coming winter work.

Forty senior graduate students in Farm Management work at Michigan State College spent Friday and part of Saturday visiting farms of various kinds in Kent County.

The following visit was made: E. W. Ruesch, Caledonia; Elwin Parmeter, Courtland; Seymour Hesche, Lowell; Lloyd Hill and Raymond Jost, Alpine. The class was in charge of Clyde May.

On Saturday, farms were visited in Newagoo County, also the Fremont Canning Company.

Did you go to the Century of Progress Fair at Chicago in 1933 or 1934? If so perhaps you were one of those who helped consume 4,600,000 hamburgers, plus 2,000,000 hot dogs, 2,000,000 gallons of coffee and 35,000,000 slices of bacon.

Some one remarked to us one day about the number of gas stations south of the city on Division road.

We counted them from the corner of Burton Street to Carleton road. In the seven mile stretch there were 41 stations.

"Types of Farming in Michigan" is a new bulletin to come to our desk recently. The bulletin discusses Michigan's diversified agriculture. Material is taken from crop and census reports, also farm account books. The bulletin is very readable. A postcard will bring one from the County Agent's office.

Lowell Dist. No. 8
Mrs. R. J. Maxson

Dear Readers:

The South Lowell Extension Class held their organization meeting at the home of Mrs. O. K. Graham Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Graham and John and the Anton Wingelers attended the 4-H Club achievement banquet at Caledonia high school Friday evening. Dorothy Wingeler was winner of the trip to Chicago, sponsored by the Alto Creamery, to attend the Club Congress in December. Ethel Hinkle won a trip to Michigan State College for Club Week next July.

Callers at the Anton Wingeler home during the past week were Mrs. Florence Pappert and daughters, Nancy and Jane, and Mr. and Mrs. John Flynn and William Burns. The Wingelers also entertained their guests with a game supper recently. Their guests were the Marion Shade family, Mr. Bailey and Walter Graham.

Mr. and Mrs. Shade and family were Sunday visitors at the Victor home in Woodland.

Miss Charlene Kysner of Lowell spent the school vacation last week with Theresa Rollins, celebrating the birthdays of both girls. On Friday they accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Courter on a Grand Rapids shopping tour. On Saturday Theresa joined the load of 4-H Club members which Walter and John Graham took to Lansing to the football game.

Mr. and Mrs. O. K. Graham and John visited relatives at Metamora, Ohio, one day recently and brought their mother and grandmother, Mrs. Strong, back for the winter.

Mrs. C. A. Shaver and son Vincent of Saranac were Sunday afternoon callers at the Rollins home.

Susan Krum spent a couple of days last week with her cousin, Ona Roth. Mr. and Mrs. Roth attended a party Saturday evening at the C. W. Roth home in Vergennes. The Roth family were Sunday afternoon guests at the Carl Roth home.

Mr. and Mrs. John Chapin of Remus, newlyweds, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Meriman.

Mrs. Erwin Merriman has been ill with shingles, but is some better at this writing.

Mr. and Mrs. Adrian Cobb of Ionia were overnight guests of the Glen Lovelands Saturday. Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Livingston and two children of Clarksville were Sunday guests. Friday afternoon callers were Mr. Loveland's brother Ralph and mother and stepfather, Mr. and Mrs. P. J. Averill, of Grand Rapids.

Sunday callers at the Phillip Schneider home were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Whorley of Grand Rapids and Peter O'Neill and two sons of Lowell.

Mrs. Campbell spent Thursday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Snyder of Campen Lake. Mr. Snyder is not feeling very well lately. Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Campbell of McCords accompanied John and Lena to Belding Sunday where they visited relatives.

Mrs. Men-hall has been in very poor health the past several weeks. Evelyn has been helping her with her work.

We were very pleasantly surprised last Sunday morning when Cors and George and two kiddies walked in on us. They ate dinner with Mother and Dad and called on Grandma Leary and the Jessups in Lowell in the afternoon, returning to Detroit Sunday evening.

As ever, Rosalie.

Red Flannel Day Nov. 11 At Cedar Springs

Cedar Springs, the Red Flannel Town, will glorify the good old-fashioned red garments in an all day event, Saturday, November 11. Hunters northward bound, friends from the surrounding territory who turn their way north on U. S. 131, are invited to stop for Red Flannel Day.

Hunting togs will be the formal attire of the day and evening and red flannel underwear will have its "place under the sun".

Red Flannel Day is the outgrowth of a demand for red flannels, that has increased in the past few years. When an eastern city declared the passing of red flannels and moaned that there were no more of the flaming garments in the United States, Cedar Springs answered, "Not so, Cedar Springs has red flannels." Immediately orders for the garments started, and each winter brings increasing demand. So Cedar Springs is creating the garments.

Believing that red flannels should be given their rightful place of honor and dignity on the American scene, Cedar Springs has planned this year's event for Saturday, November 11, to do honor to the good old red flannel garments.

Social Events

Celebrate 57th Anniversary

Friends are extending congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. William H. Cholerton who observed their fifty-seventh wedding anniversary last Saturday, Oct. 28. Mr. and Mrs. Cholerton were married in Richmond Center, Wis. They moved to Lowell 36 years ago, having remained here since.

They have two children, a daughter, Mrs. Isabelle McConnell of Medina, Ohio, a son, C. H. Cholerton of Milwaukee, Wis., and three grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. Cholerton spent a quiet, peaceful time at their home in observance of the day which is typical of their lifetime together. It is hoped that they may see many more happy anniversaries in their day.

Entertains For Bride

Miss Dorothy Kropf and Mrs. Allison Roark entertained twenty ladies at the Roark home last week Wednesday evening with a kitchen shower honoring Miss Virginia Petersen. The bride was presented many useful gifts from the guests who came from Greenville, Lowell, Moseley and Grand Rapids. Dainty refreshments were served by the hostesses.

Old Time Club

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Sayles entertained members of the Old Time Club at their home Saturday evening. Cards were played, high honors going to Mr. and Mrs. Loyal Ricker and consolations to Mrs. John Sterzick and Lyle Condon. A lovely potluck supper was enjoyed by all.

Days of the Week.

It is interesting to trace the origins of the names of days of the week. Sunday, of course, was devoted to the worship of the sun, and Monday was originally Moonday (Saxon) Tuesday's day from Tuesco, a mythical person, supposed to have been the first war like leader of the Teutonic nations. Among the Romans it was Dies Martis, the day of Mars, their god of war. Wednesday (Saxon) Woden's day, the day of Woden, or Odin a mythical being of high war like reputation among the northern nations. Among the Romans this day was Mercury's day. Thursday (Saxon) was dedicated to the Saxon god Thor, who in his supremacy over other gods and his attribute of the Thunder, corresponds very exactly with Jupiter, who's day this was among the Romans. Friday (Saxon) was named by the Saxon in honor of the Deity Friga or Freya. Among the Romans the day was dedicated to Venus. Saturday (Saxon), Saturn, the fast day of the deity.

Storm Gives Warning

When the sun, which had been shining brightly all morning, became obscured at midday and a black pall enshrouded the city the 50,000 inhabitants of Bahia Blanca, Argentina, became terrorized. Recollections of a recent violent storm in Cordoba and the earthquakes in Chile added to the frenzy. Streets and stores were quickly deserted as people fled to their homes. Iron shutters of store windows were closed and automobiles with head lights on were deserted at the curb, although street lamps throughout the city were lighted. Families gathered in their living rooms and waited for anything to happen. After three hours of blackness the tail of a cyclone struck Bahia Blanca, uprooting trees, blowing down electric signs and cutting cables, but no lives were lost.

Rotary Club Sponsors "Institute of International Understanding"—Meetings Open to All Citizens—Season Tickets on Sale at Nominal Cost

An Institute of International Understanding, consisting of a series of addresses by those competent to speak on world affairs, is being arranged by the local Rotary Club and is to be held in Lowell in the high school auditorium, November 9 to December 7.

One of the objects of Rotary is "the advancement of international understanding, good will, and peace through a world fellowship of business and professional men united in the ideal of service."

The Institute is at the same time an adult study course in international affairs and a youth project, for the Institute speakers, in addition to their addresses at the public forums in the evening, are available during the day for speeches at the local high school.

In this effort the Lowell Rotary Club is bringing to its community the opportunity to participate in an unprejudiced discussion of world affairs.

Speakers to participate will be Colonel M. Thomas Tchou of Shanghai, China; H. Canfield Cook of Chicago, Ill.; Dr. Allen D. Albert, Paris, Ill.; and Gladys M. Perrow of Chicago.

The local committee of the Rotary Club in charge of the Institute desires to point out specifically to the citizens of the community that this is distinctly a study in international affairs and that no resolutions will be entertained or passed, thus avoiding embarrassment to any group or individual participating.

The Institute will be held in the high school auditorium on the following dates: November 9, 16, 30 and December 7. The price of admission has been placed within the reach of all citizens, as follows: Course ticket, admitting one couple at $1.50; course ticket, admitting one person, $1.00. General admission ticket for any one meeting, 35c. Course tickets may be procured in advance from any member of the Rotary Club.

This column has previously mentioned late blight and the potato crop. Some unofficial information came to our desk the other day on the late crop situation.

Some localities are going to find it hard to get clean seed next spring, particularly where spraying for late blight hasn't been practiced. The war steps in and raises the price of potato starch from 3 1/2c to 6c a pound.

Another farm building has been converted into an apple storage. This time on the farm of Lloyd Hill in Alpine township. A 4x4x8 implement shed has been remodeled to hold 8,000 bushels of apples plus a crate storage over head.

The Kent City Farm Bureau will soon move to new quarters. The building is 36x78 with a full basement, a warehouse, office and retail store. It is a much needed addition to the organization.

Emmett Davis, of Oakfield, has a two story 24x30 foot poultry house under construction. Earl McDiarmid of Lowell is remodeling a barn, putting a full basement under the same and adding interior improvements.

Three boys, presidents of their respective F. F. A. Chapters, attended the annual convention of the National Association at Kansas City, Missouri last week. The boys were Robert Clark of Lowell; Archie Cummings of Sparta; and Robert Stewart of Caledonia.

The 1939-1940 4-H Clothing and Handicraft season is getting underway with many older clubs reorganizing and plenty of requests from new communities for information. All clubs should be organized and under way by Dec. 1st.

Forty senior graduate students in Farm Management work at Michigan State College spent Friday and part of Saturday visiting farms of various kinds in Kent County.

The following visitors were made: E. W. Ruchs, Caledonia; Elwin Parmeter, Courtland; Seymour Hoesche, Lowell; Lloyd Hill and Raymond Jost, Alpine. The class was in charge of Clyde May.

On Saturday farms were visited in Newaygo County, also the Fremont Canning Company. Did you go to the Century of Progress Fair at Chicago in 1933 or 1934? If so perhaps you were one of those who helped consume 4,600,000 hamburgers, plus 2,000,000 hot dogs, 2,000,000 gallons of coffee and 35,000,000 slices of bacon.

Some one remarked to us one day about the number of gas stations south of the city on Division road. We counted them one day from Burton Street to Carlisle road. In the seven mile stretch there were 41 stations.

"Types of Farming in Michigan" is a new bulletin to come to our desk recently. The bulletin discusses Michigan's diversified agriculture. Material is taken from crop and census reports, also farm account books. The bulletin is very readable. A postcard will bring one from the County Agent's office.

KEENE GRANGE ENTERTAINS IONIA COUNTY POMONA The Pomona Grange held its first fall meeting last week Saturday evening with Keene Grange. Election of officers was held with following officers elected: Worthy Master, Homer Bartlett; Overseer, James Neusbaum; Lecturer, Jane Neusbaum; Steward, Reuben Lee; Asst. Steward, Frank Wright; Chaplain, Mrs. Hugh Welfare; Treasurer, James Bedell; Secretary, Mrs. Neva Woodard; Gate Keeper, Harold Curtis; Pomona, Mrs. Mabel Clough; Ceres, Mrs. Eimer Benedict; Flora, Mrs. Maude Lee; Lady Asst. Steward, Mrs. Blanche Wright. The time and place for installation of officers will be announced at a later date.

Mrs. R. J. Maxson

Dear Readers:

The South Lowell Extension Class held their organization meeting at the home of Mrs. O. K. Graham Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Graham and John and the Anton Wingelers attended the 4-H Club achievement banquet at Caledonia high school Friday evening. Dorothy Wingeler was winner of the trip to Chicago, sponsored by the Alto Creamery, to attend the Club Congress in December. Ethel Hinkle won a trip to Michigan State College for Club Week next July.

Callers at the Anton Wingeler home during the past week were Mrs. Florence Pappert and daughters, Nancy and Jane, and Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Hutchinson of Pontiac and Yale Simons of Detroit.

The Wingelers also entertained with a game supper recently. Their guests were the Marion Shade family, Mr. Bailey and Walter Graham.

Days of the Week

It is interesting to trace the origins of the names of days of the week. Sunday, of course, was devoted to the worship of the sun, and Monday was originally Monday Tuesday (Saxon) Tuesday's day from Tuesco, a mythical person supposed to have been the first war leader of the Teutonic nations. Among the Romans it was Dies Martis, the day of Mars, their god of war. Wednesday (Saxon) Woden's day, the day of Woden, or Odin a mythical being of high war like reputation among the northern nations. Among the Romans this day was Mercury's day. Thursday (Saxon) was dedicated to the Saxon god Thor, who in his supremacy over other gods and his attribute of the Thunderer, corresponds very exactly with Jupiter, who's day this was among the Romans. Friday (Saxon) was named by the Saxon in honor of the Deity Friga or Freya. Among the Romans the day was dedicated to Venus. Saturday (Saxon), Saturn, the fast day of the deity.

Storm Gives Warning

When the sun, which had been shining brightly all morning, became obscured at midday and a black pall enshrouded the city the 30,000 inhabitants of Bahia Blanca, Argentina, became terrorized. Recollections of a recent violent storm in Cordoba and the earthquake in Chile added to the frenzy. Streets and stores were quickly deserted as people fled to their homes. Iron shutters of store windows were closed and automobiles with head lights on were deserted at the curb although street lamps throughout the city were lighted. Families gathered in their living rooms and waited for anything to happen. After three hours of blackness the tail of a cyclone struck Bahia Blanca, uprooting trees, blowing down electric signs and cutting cables, but no lives were lost.

'Peanut Belt' is Extensive

The "peanut belt" stretches from Virginia to Florida, across to Texas and Oklahoma. It produced 1,300,000,000 pounds in 1938.

Mexico purchased 27 airplanes in the United States in June.

Over 70 stopping places for ambulances in Paris have been eliminated this year.

Red Flannel Day Nov. 11
At Cedar Springs

Cedar Springs, the Red Flannel Town, will glorify the good old-fashioned red garments in an all day event Saturday, November 11. Hunters northward bound, friends from the surrounding territory, any who turn their way north on U. S. 131, are invited to stop for Red Flannel Day.

Hunting togs will be the formal attire of the day and evening and red flannel underwear will have its "place under the sun".

Red Flannel Day is the outgrowth of a demand for red flannels, that has increased in the past few years. When an eastern city decreed the passing of red flannels and moaned that there were no more of the flaming garments in the United States, Cedar Springs answered, "Not so, Cedar Springs has red flannels." Immediately orders for the garments started, and each winter brings increasing demand. So Cedar Springs supplies the garments.

Believing that red flannels should be given their rightful place of honor and dignity on the American scene, Cedar Springs has planned this year's event for Saturday, November 11, to do honor to the good old red flannel garments.
