

Lowell will be deserted over the week-end with the deer hunters all gone. Lowell Hardware stores had sold 276 licenses up to Wednesday morning and that number is expected to be doubled by Saturday when the season opens. Bob Starkey, who has been home first for the past 3 years with his buck, has promised to show up with his buck again before noon on Saturday. Wonder where he keeps 'em tied?

Only thirty-four shopping days until Christmas. Try Lowell stores first.

The Halto

If you're ever in Lansing during the lunch hour and you are trying to locate Gov. Sigler, give it up. It's a waste of time. You won't find him. His Excellency keeps a fresh pack of sandwiches and a jug of coffee in his office. Come noon, he vanishes, usually with a pal, to rush to the airport. There he jumps into his plane and off he goes to munch sandwiches as he floats around over the countryside. Lunch over, he lands, goes back to his desk to chomp up another hour's flying time in his log book.

A one-minute radio commercial would need to have a possible audience of 21,000,000 to equal the pulling power of a 5,000 circulation newspaper in a recent column.

Miss Donna Thorne, R. N., of Lowell and her friend, Miss Marian Johnson, R. N., were weekly members of Honolulu, which was forced to return to San Francisco last Thursday night because of engine trouble, 1,080 miles at sea. The 23 passengers and their baggage were transferred to another clipper for resumption of the flight. On Saturday morning Donna sent a cablegram to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Claude Thorne, stating she had arrived safely at Honolulu.

The Lowell Electrics maintained their dizzy pace as leaders, but not in pin fall, as they won 3 games and 4 points from Superior Furniture. Match was featured by low scores, with only C. Burtie and T. Ford out of the line with single counts of 192 each. The Lowell Dusters won 2 games and 3 points from the Kroger Keglers, climbing to a 2nd place tie with the Lowell Bears. Improved bowling by J. Jones, C. Armstrong and J. Eriar (188 single) featured the Dusters play. Grailer, Keech, Stahl and Adams pulled hard for Krogers, but their "Anchor" dragged through most of the match. Lowell Bears won 2 games and 3 points from Moose "809". A blown top slowed the Moose machine. Sherman's 197 single and C. Koer's 225 single, 592 total, featured the Bears attack. Season's end teams change at Lowell Mfg. Co. last summer, last place in city soft-ball league, this winter, leading bowling league. Recommendations, a summer bowling league!

Take notice that Kelser's Kitchen left the basement by whipping the Moose 2 out of 3 games. The Hot Points beat the Sprayers 2 out of 3 games and the Bears poured it on King Milling, taking 3 straight and third spot in the standings.

FIFTY-FIFTH YEAR

LOWELL, MICHIGAN, THURSDAY, NOV. 13, 1947

NUMBER 28

LEDGER ENTRIES

SERENE NOVEMBER

The month of November is not a popular period of the year. There are too many chill winds and cold nights, which remind one of the freezing temperatures and frigid blasts of the winter still to come. To some it is a melancholy thought that the life of most plants and flowers, and the leaves of the deciduous trees, have come to an end. The bright colors of the summer and early fall have mostly vanished. The sun is getting far away from us, and the lower power of his rays fails to illumine the landscape as it did in summer days. Masses of bare trees take on a dull color tone and seem to say that their work of the year is ended. Yet there is a certain quiet serenity about the month of November that has its pleasing aspects. Nature has finished her labors of the warm months, and is resting peacefully in the memory of past achievement. The scene might be considered typical of elderly persons who had finished most of their labors and were enjoying the fruition of many years of toil.

MODERN HAUNTING

A humorist remarks that some people used to think certain houses were haunted, but that the only haunting now is done by the boy friends who flock around to see some nice girl. When a house is so haunted by youth, it is a sign that the young lady has a bright and vivacious and friendly manner, and that she charms people by her gracious ways. Also that her parents have a very agreeable manner, and they know how to make young people feel at home and give them a good time. The home is fortunate when young people so flock around it, and it is a center of very happy life.

PRODUCTION AND PRICES

Probably the most potent factor affecting prices and the cost of living, is the situation as respects supply and demand. It is a fundamental law of economics, that when the supply of anything desired by the people exceeds the demand for that article, there is a tendency for prices to rise. American industry has been turning out great quantities of its products, but the demand for these products appears to be greater than ever before, creating a scarcity in many cases. This situation has tended to raise prices. If there is any way by which production of needed articles could be so stimulated that the demand, the prices of such articles would be likely to remain stationary or decline.

HIGH STANDARD TOWNS

The progress which a community makes depends to a considerable extent on how high its standards are. In a community where standards are high, people are conscious of defects and are likely to have them corrected. If their home places do not look well, the owners are likely to do something in the way of improvement. There is a constant effort to have property in good repair and in attractive condition. People are constantly seen working around their home places, endeavoring to keep them neat and trim and to add touches of beauty. A town where standards are high seems attractive to visitors and strangers, and its reputation spreads as a nice place in which to live or do business. Patience is the best remedy for every trouble.—Plautus.

Vandenberg On Feeding Europe Declares We Should Strive For an Unpartisan Foreign Policy

By Gene Allman, Sec'y-Manager Michigan Press Association

"America will have lost its traditional character if it refuses (fuel and famine) relief under proper auspices," said Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg in an address at the University of Michigan.

The senator's remarks favoring additional food and coal for Western Europe, were expressed at Ann Arbor in ceremonies commemorating the Dutch settlement of Michigan 100 years ago. Simultaneously, and by coincidence, Governor Kim Sigler announced the Michigan Citizens' Food Committee led by Prof. Herman J. Wynyard, head of the Michigan State College economics department.

Senator Vandenberg added an important "if." "We must frankly canvass our own resources lest we impair our own economy and thus vindicate the sinister hopes of those who expect our economic collapse to end all democracy for keeps.... We must know the total bill."

Vandenberg declared we should strive for an "unpartisan American policy." Governor Sigler stressed our patriotic obligation. "It is not a question of whether we agree with the President's program. The President of the United States has asked the people to cooperate. Those responsible should know the food situation in Europe. We in Michigan should, as in the past, do what is necessary to cooperate."

During World War II, more than a half million Michigan young men—and a thousand or so young women—left their homes for military duty. Most of them returned home safely. Some did not. Our directing military genius, war-time chief of staff at Washington, was General George C. Marshall. Marshall is now secretary of state.

Quoting Secretary Marshall: "During this critical period in world affairs, food is a vital factor in our foreign policy. The attitude of Americans toward the food can make or break our efforts to achieve peace and security throughout the world."

Why did General Marshall and Senator Vandenberg both stress the importance of food and fuel? The national citizens' food committee vouches for the following: Frost, drought and floods in Europe, reduced the wheat and rye production in Western Europe by 200 million bushels. The US wheat crop was a record 1,450 million bushels, while our corn yield was down 900 million bushels.

Europe needs 570 million bushels of wheat to tide them over the coming winter. And we have only 470 million bushels at hand for export—100 million bushels less than are needed.

That's why you are being asked by your leaders—President Truman, Secretary of State Marshall, Senator Vandenberg and Governor Sigler—to cooperate by conserving food. It's just as simple as that.

As Mr. Marshall bluntly puts it, "our foreign policy has entered the American home and taken a seat at the family table."

Ionia Home Ec. Group Invites Leaders to Hear Lennah Backus

The November meeting for the project leaders of the extension Home Economics groups will be held in Lake Odessa at the High School, Tuesday, November 18 at 1:00 o'clock and in Ionia at the Council room in the City Hall on Wednesday, November 19, at 1:00 o'clock.

The topic for discussion will be "Teen Age Problems" and Mrs. Lennah Backus, specialist in child care and parents education, from Michigan State College, will conduct the meeting.

Mrs. June Brown, county home demonstration agent, considers this one of the important lessons of the year. She extends an invitation to organizations other than extension clubs to send two members to get the lesson and take it back to their group for further discussion.

Community-Wide Chest X-Ray, Free to Everybody

Lowell is one of the fortunate towns in Kent County which will have the services of the Christmas Seal X-ray Unit of the Kent County Tuberculosis society on a community basis. J. D. Brook, M. D., Kent County Health Officer is cooperating.

Tuberculin testing started in the Lowell schools this week and will be continued on November 17 and 20. This test is given to find those children who have tuberculosis germs in their bodies. Parents must sign a request blank which should be brought to them by each student.

On November 24 and 25 the X-ray Unit, in a large bus, will be located at the high school and everybody above school age in Lowell and the surrounding townships may come for a free x-ray of the chest. The hours will be from 9 to 11:30 a. m. and 12 to 5:30 p. m.

"Early tuberculosis has no symptoms and the early cases are easily controlled," according to Blanche H. DeKoning, executive secretary of the tuberculosis society.

The Lowell Ledger is promoting this campaign because it believes that prevention is better than cure. A committee will meet in the Ledger office on Friday evening to outline plans for a house to house canvass, so everybody will know about the project. The committee consists of the following, besides R. G. Jefferies: James A. MacDonell, M. D., of the Rotary Club; Mrs. James Gea for the PTA; W. W. Gumsier of the schools; Elmer Schaefer of the Board of Trade and Mrs. Royden Warner of the Lowell Women's Club.

Increasing Education Cost to Individual Hit by MSC President

"A sign of a dangerous weakness in our social system" is what Dr. John A. Hannah, president of Michigan State college, terms the increasing cost to the individual of higher education.

"Whereas in 1925, 114 percent of the State of Michigan's total expenditures was devoted to higher education, in 1946, only 5.5 percent of its total expenditures was allocated to higher education," he reports. "In other words, as more and more of this state's young men and women have gone to state-supported schools, Michigan has devoted less and less of her income to their education."

To illustrate the point of "increasing cost to the individual," President Hannah reports that this year $4,729,000 of the college's income comes from student fees, while only slightly more than $4,007,000 comes from state appropriations.

"Thus we have a situation," he says, "in which a state-supported institution, founded and maintained to provide inexpensive education for its citizens, must look to outside sources for a very large source of its income."

"Make no mistake about it," he says, "unless we continue to make it possible for the young man or woman of intelligence, personality, and initiative to acquire a general and technical education, irrespective of economic status, we will have choked off our best sources of leadership and, by default, re-established an aristocracy that can lead us only into decadence and disaster."

Cap Pistols Banned In State, Black Rules

Atty. Gen. Black holds that no toy cap pistols may legally be sold or possessed in Michigan at present.

Black said a 1947 legislative act legalizing the sale of a certain type cap made legal only those cap pistols which had been approved by the commissioner of state police. Since none have been approved, none may be sold or owned, he said.

Armistice Day Here Fittingly Observed

Seventy-five ex-service men attended the Armistice dinner sponsored by the Clark-Ellis Post of the American Legion on Monday night at the city hall. The Flat River Four entertained delightfully with several selections and Toward Wicket, principal of Creston high school, gave a very inspiring address.

At the short business meeting conducted by Commander Storm-zand, it was decided to authorize individuals to sign a note on behalf of the Post to provide funds with which to proceed with the construction of the building project. It is hoped that the building will be placed over one story of the structure and that windows and doors will be placed so that steps can be taken to install the bowlin' alleys.

Father-Son Farm Plan Works Well

Well-planned father and son partnerships are working out satisfactorily on Michigan farms, according to N. L. Smith, farm management specialist at Michigan State college.

This type of agreement is especially designed for farmers who have a son, son-in-law, or other young farmer whom they want in the business. It is a flexible arrangement that takes into consideration the contributions and responsibilities of both parties.

The arrangement allows the young man to work into the business at whatever rate of his ability. Eventually, as the youth assumes more responsibility, another type of lease such as the 50-50 lease may be adopted.

A copy of the father and son partnership agreement which has been prepared by the MSC farm management department may be obtained from county agricultural agents, or by writing to the farm management department, Michigan State college, East Lansing, Michigan.

Red Arrows Bow to Grandville in Last Game

The Lowell Red Arrows dropped a 12 to 0 decision to the Grandville Bulldogs on the latter's field, Friday night.

Grandville scored in the first period and were played on even terms till the last few minutes when a shot kick set up their second touchdown.

The Red Arrows seemed able to gain ground in mid-field but bogged down when within sight of touchdown territory.

This concludes the season for the Arrows, however several of the boys will be back to try and improve Lowell's football fortunes next season.

Chris Burch announced Wednesday that the Lowell team has chosen as the two most valuable players in 1947, Lloyd DeVormer and Roland Doyle.
