

Holding to an old custom, country people of the northern part of this land, begin to think about banking the house. It is a procedure, not followed as religiously as it used to be, by our grandfathers, but still practical in keeping the home snug for winter's blasts. Some, who live on New England's shores, set great store by the banking with solidly packed salt hay. Another area will prefer pine and spruce boughs as their wall against storm, and there is the household who yearly tightly packs piles of leaves, held in place by side boards and topped with earth as the foundation bank. The results of all this preparation, in each system, is one of furthering the comfort of the country man.

NEXT YEAR'S GARDENS

During the war the Victory garden movement made a great increase in the production of vegetables. Perhaps since the war ended many of the Victory gardeners have discontinued such production, feeling that the things they could produce would not be needed. The world shortage of food suggests that an increased supply of vegetables would be very useful. If people raised more of these things in their own gardens, they would be likely to use less of foods which are or may be scarce. Thus they would help the world supply.

YOUTHFUL DISORDER

Some parents say that it is hard to give their children good ideas on the question of orderly habits. They will say their children leave clothes, playthings, books, etc., scattered about the house, and the old folks often have to pick up after them. They ask what can be done to teach the youngsters orderly habits. One reason for cultivating such habits is that it saves time spent in hunting for lost things. Many people spend minutes or even hours in hunting for things they have mislaid. If these things had been kept in their proper places, they would have been found readily. Also orderly habits are a help in work and business life. The worker who knows just where his tools are, can accomplish more. His well kept bench or desk is a sign that he is efficient.

THE SAVING HABIT

There are many people who usually spend their money about as fast as they get it, and they have little reserve ahead. In many cases they have so many demands for money, and so many things are needed for themselves and their children, that it is extremely difficult for them to save anything. Many persons will find that quite a little money slips away for things that are not of vital importance. People need reserves against emergencies which may happen. If it is possible to make such savings, they will be a wonderful help if sickness or accident comes. If people are able by careful economy to make savings, these will be of great assistance if trouble comes, or if money is needed for the education of children.

GOOD NEIGHBORS

Country towns have always been famous for the splendid neighborly spirit there manifested. If a man was sick, it would often happen that some of his neighbors would take hold and help with his farm work, and attend to needed things around his home and barn. In the old days when very few professional nurses were available, many persons without such training would sit up with sick people and attend to their wants. This spirit of friendliness and helpfulness has been a splendid manifestation of human sympathy. It has helped countless people over hard places, and enabled them to meet difficult situations. In these times many facilities are offered for the care of the sick, and there are not so many occasions where such aid is needed. Yet there are many ways for the friendly spirit to show itself, and such acts are deeply appreciated.

HOME TOWN THOUGHTS

In considering requests for employment, the question is often asked as to whether the candidate is a good worker. People who seem to enjoy their work have a strong asset in their favor.

People are very keenly interested in the question as to what can be done with the money. Advertising gives an answer to that question, and it is read with great interest.

Lowell Rotarians To Be Honored By District Governor

Allen G. Miller of Grand Rapids, governor of the 151st District of Rotary International, will make an official visit to the Lowell Rotary Club next Wednesday, December 3. Dr. James A. MacDonell, president of the local club has announced.

Michigan Bell Audit To Cost Pretty Penny

The Michigan Bell Telephone Company rate is in the recess stage with indications that seasons will not be resumed until well after the first of the year.

As Ferry B. Allen, assistant controller, testified Thursday and Friday to close the company's direct testimony, chairman Stuart B. White, of the commission, said he has had no idea as to when the hearing will reopen.

The commission is awaiting the results of an audit and appraisal of the company's investment, revenue, and expense which is being undertaken with the help of outside consultants at a cost of between $250,000 and $350,000. The recent special session of the legislature appropriated the small amount.

The company is required to reimburse the state for such costs.

"The financial strength of the institution with all its implications on the quality of service to the consumer is much more important than any momentary economy," said Allen in urging a return of about 62/3 per cent on the company's investment. He emphasized that the company should not be required to engage in debt financing to meet its construction needs. All of the company's capital is now in capital stock.

Allen showed that the company's earnings are substantially lower than leading manufacturing corporations with which the Bell System must compete for capital to finance construction requirements.

ALLEN G. MILLER

Miller will visit Lowell as part of a six month tour of the Western Michigan area covered by the 151st District, during which the District Governor will confer with officers, directors and committee chairmen and address the members of the 60 clubs in the area.

The Governor will discuss with Lowell Rotary Club members Rotary activities in Lowell and the basic objectives of the club which duplicate those of the more than 6,300 clubs throughout the world—promotion of better understanding between business and professional men, community betterment, raising business and professional standards, and fostering peace throughout the world.

WEDDINGS

Lyall-Bresina

In a lovely setting of white mums, fern and lighted candelabras, a very impressive double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Clarence D. Oberlin, which took place Saturday, Nov. 22, at 2:30, in the McGrath Memorial Church in Muskegon. The bride, Miss Margaret (Peggy) Bresina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar J. Bresina, 1267 W. Dale Ave., Muskegon, became the bride of Kenneth H. Lyall, son of Mr. and Mrs. Julia Lyall of Boyne City and Mrs. Leslie Lyall of Muskegon.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a beautiful white slipper satin and lace princess style, floor-length gown, with a long sweeping train, a sweetheart neckline and long sleeves pointed over the wrists. Her fingertip veil of French illusion was held in place with a tiara of white seed pearls. She carried a colonial bouquet of white and red roses with wide white satin ribbon.

Betty Delora, her twin sister, attended as bridesmaid. Her dress was robin egg blue moria taffeta, styled with sweetheart neckline, plumed and full skirt with mits to match. Her colonial bouquet was yellow roses and pom poms and wide yellow satin ribbon.

James Lyall of Sparta, brother of the groom, attended as best man, and Harold Bresina, brother of the bride, and Donald Roth of Lowell, the bride's cousin, ushered.

Orrin Sterken of Lowell beautifully rendered "Because" and "O Promise Me," Mrs. Morgan Hutchinson accompanying him at the organ. She also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride's mother wore a gray wool suit dress with pink accessories and her corsage was pink roses. Mrs. Lyall chose for her son's wedding a blue velvet dress and her corsage was red roses.

A reception followed the ceremony in the church parlors for one hundred guests. Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Roth of Lowell, aunt and uncle of the bride, were Master and Mistress of ceremonies. The bride's table which held the three-tiered wedding cake was decorated with yellow and white baby mums and white taper candles. The cake was cut by Mrs. Orrin Sterken of Lowell. Mrs. Hubert Billings of Wausau, Wis., aunt of the bride, and Mrs. Frank Kuhn of Muskegon, sister of the groom, poured.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Parlier of Wausau, Wis., cousins of the bride, had charge of the gift tables.

For going away the bride wore a gray wool suit with pink accessories and a corsage of pink roses. After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Lyall will make their home in Muskegon.

Guests were present from Wausau, Wis., Chicago, Traverse City, Boyne City, Kent City, Sparta and Lowell.

Christmas Seals

The 41st annual sale of tuberculosis Christmas Seals is on in full swing in Grand Rapids, all of Kent County and the entire nation.

The sale is conducted locally by the Kent County Tuberculosis Society with Thorne J. Brown acting as chairman of a large committee representative of the entire county. Approximately 60,000 letters were mailed so the campaign would reach on November 24, the official opening date.

"The seal this year pictures a pair of oxen pulling a loaded sled, which depicts teamwork," stated Mr. Brown. "A lot of teamwork will be necessary if we are going to wipe out tuberculosis from our nation!"

"Somehow the mistaken idea was broadcast that the Kent County society has a lot of money. This is not true because we went into debt when we spent $17,500.00 for our Christmas Seal X-ray unit which we are using for free chest x-ray service in communities, industries and schools. That looks like a lot of money but when we compare that cost of preventive services with the $263,000.00 budget necessary to care for 120 patients in the sanatorium we know that it is cheap.

"Eighty-four per cent of the funds raised locally will be spent right here in our county. Only 5% will go to the national office in New York for research with streptomycin and other projects and 15% will go to the Michigan Tuberculosis Association for its state wide service. The books of the Kent County Tuberculosis Society are audited annually and it has made a national reputation for its effective program and our low death rate.

"Cutting down illnesses and deaths from tuberculosis is the mission of the Christmas Seal," stated Mr. Brown. Less than four shopping weeks before Christmas. Buy Christmas Seals.

Money can not buy happiness, but with it you can be unhappy in comfort.—Don McNeil.

Gove Farm Bureau Now Known As Sunny Acres

The Gove Farm Bureau held its monthly meeting at Sunny Acres last month on November 13 for a business meeting. After the meeting, refreshments were served by Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Yates. It was also decided at this meeting to rename our group and be known in the future as Sunny Acres Farm Bureau.

Dairy Practices Will Be Feature Of Farmers' Week

Thoughtful dairymen never stop wanting new information that will help them in their business. A. C. Baltzer, extension dairyman at Michigan State college, says that visitors to MSC Farmers' Week will find a big assortment of dairy practices to stimulate their thinking.

The handling and management of cows, and labor saving procedures will be featured, since no other farm enterprise demands so many hours of labor daily and yearly as does the operation of a dairy herd.

Feeding and pasturing dairy cows will be one of the topics discussed. Farmers will be advised of ways of achieving a better balance of rations and of growing roughages that will help the herd to maintain good health and producing ability.

The value of a successful breeding program and the importance of maintaining a healthy herd of cows will receive much attention. Baltzer points out that cow losses due to disease and reproductive difficulties are costly. Income is increased by having cows live longer.

Raising calves successfully and achieving greater growth will also be stressed, together with approved methods for producing high quality milk and cream.

The dairy program is part of Farmers' Week which will be held at Michigan State college, East Lansing, January 26 to 30, 1948.

GRANDSON OF MR. AND MRS. CHAS. BILLEGGER DIES

Charles Harris, 13 years old, of Milan, son of Rev. and Mrs. J. B. Harris, died at his home Monday after a long illness. Surviving beside the parents and two brothers, Clarence and Dick, are the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Billegger, and aunt, Dorothy Billegger, of Lowell. Funeral services will be held this Friday afternoon at Milan with burial in Milan cemetery.

Dewey and Vandenberg Say It Is Up to People to Decide Our Stand on Foreign Policy

By Gene Allman, Secretary-Member Michigan Press Association

Two Michigan-born men, Arthur H. Vandenberg and Thomas E. Dewey, have leading roles in the present American foreign policy of economic aid to Western Europe.

Any discussion of the current food-saving program, as it concerns Michigan people here on the home front, is linked directly to the fact that food is a vital part of American foreign policy and this policy is bi-partisan. We accept this fact as premise No. 2. (Premise No. 1, stated last week: Western Europe has a shortage of food.)

It will not suffice to blame the "Administration" at Washington for the fact that we, as a nation, are pledged to defense of all freedom loving people against the threat of an aggressor.

Let's look at the record.

Senator Vandenberg, chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, stated at Ann Arbor on Nov. 3 that he fully agreed with General George C. Marshall, secretary of state, who described the "supreme underlying issue" as follows: "Whether or not men are to be left free to organize their existence in accordance with their own desires or whether they are to have their lives arranged and dictated for them by small groups of men who have arrogated to themselves this arbitrary power."

Vandenberg said he also agreed with Marshall's conclusion that the alternative risk to economic aid to Europe was "the danger of the actual disappearance of western civilization on which our government and our manner of living are based."

Our present foreign policy, thus championed on a bi-partisan basis, offers risks that are virtually frightening. Should we take these risks? Can we avoid the danger of war regardless of what path we choose? Every citizen should weigh the evidence carefully and thoughtfully. There is no escape. The hour of decision is again near.

Michigan-born Thomas E. Dewey, 1944 presidential nominee, is accepted today as the titular head of the national Republican party.

On Nov. 5, Mr. Dewey took credit for inaugurating during the summer of 1944 the nation's present bi-partisan foreign policy. We would prefer to defend freedom through the United Nations, but we are ready to do it by ourselves if necessary. That is what a Republican non-Grass voted aid to Greece and Turkey.

"It has been well said that we are in a cold war," said Dewey. "We are in it for the simple reason we are being attacked by all means short of war. The attack is by the most violent means of propaganda, falsehood, political penetration, and economic sabotage."

"The whole system of political and economic freedom for which our country stands is under attack by those who would establish a world-wide rule of a police state."

Dewey sees a "ghastly picture" as an alternative of sending further aid to Western Europe and Western Europe and Asia were to be over-run by Communists, "we should find more than a billion people in an armed camp under the control of an aggressive dictatorship arrayed against us."

"In terms of dollars, such a condition would cost us in national defense alone, a great deal more than any program of aid to Europe, and it would cost us that annually for years to come. In terms of living standards we should sink to a level not seen by any living person in this country."

Dewey concludes: "We have only one choice and that wisely to aid those who stand with us in the world in the hope that they will rise again as bulwarks of the institution of human freedom."

Lowell Women's Club Entertain Visitors From Gd. Rapids Club

Three very colorful arrangements of chrysanthemums, gift from Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Kfel, to the Women's Club, centered the luncheon tables at the Congregational parish house last Wednesday when the Lowell Women's Club entertained the Grand Rapids Women's Club with a 12:30 luncheon.

After the luncheon, a short business meeting was held at the tables. The president, Mrs. Royden Warner, presented several of the past presidents of the Grand Rapids Club, among them Mrs. J. E. Nicholson, formerly of Lowell.

She also introduced Mrs. Raymond Zwingeberg, who was County chairman of V. F. W. Friendship Food committee. Mrs. Zwingeberg gave a most interesting resume of her trip in a railroad coach hitched behind a freight train from Grand Rapids to Ft. Wayne, Ind. This train pulling one car of baby food, purchased by the V. F. W., one car of baby food, gift of the factory, and one car of food from the city of Grand Rapids, which was to be picked up by the National Food train enroute from California to New York. This food is to be shipped to Europe's hungry people as a token of friendship from the people of the United States.

The meeting adjourned to the church auditorium where organ music by Mrs. Harry Stauffer preceded the afternoon's program.

The women of the Lowell Club gave an excellent portrayal in drama form of five famous women of the Bible, as written by Mrs. Reuben Lee and narrated by Mrs. W. W. Gummer. The splendid applause indicated that the acting and narrating were well received by our guests as well as Mrs. Lee, when she was introduced by the chairman of the day, Mrs. Ray Rogers.

MSC Offers Free Talented Speakers On Many Subjects

Would your club, or school assembly or church group like to hear a native of Egypt or any of 36 other foreign countries tell about his homeland?

The Student Speakers' Bureau at Michigan State College can fix you up at no other cost than transportation and meals for the speaker.

This is typical of the services rendered by the bureau, a ten-year-old organization which so far has presented 2,000 programs before nearly 250,000 people.

On the speakers' roster this year are approximately 85 people both graduate and undergraduate students, prepared to speak on subjects ranging from the aforementioned foreign countries to Art in Everyday Life, "Labor Unions," "Hints on Household Buying," "The Modern Farmer," and "Tomorrow's World of Electricity." Many of the lectures are illustrated. All have been approved by the departments of study in which students specialize.

In addition to the group of speakers, there are nine persons who give interpretive readings of a wide variety of material suitable for many groups, ages and occasions. Included are poetry, plays, essays, short stories and book condensations.

The bureau also supplies programs in the form of discussions and demonstrations in such fields as dramatics, interpretation, speech correction, radio, debate, discussion and parliamentary procedure.

Director of the bureau which is sponsored by the department of speech, dramatics, and radio education, is Gordon L. Thomas, instructor in speech at the college. Arrangements for programs are made through him.

Participating students get neither financial remuneration nor class credit for their work.

In the case of foreign students, the major compensations are the opportunities for practice in handling English, for learning more about America through broader experiences in it and for telling people about their own countries.

The big compensations for speakers on special interest subjects in the sciences and arts are increased knowledge of their subject matter through intimate handling of it, and also practice in self-expression.

FIFTY-FIFTH YEAR

Christmas Lighting Returns to Lowell After Long Absence

A canopy of colored lights will cover Main street by December 1st, Frank J. McMahon announced to Lowell Board of Trade members at their meeting Wednesday, Nov. 19. Lowell will be one of the few towns in the state with as brilliant Christmas display.

The gala appearance of Lowell's Main street with over 1,000 colored lights hung from strands of evergreen will be the first time since 1940. This style of Christmas decoration was designed by Mr. McMahon in 1937 with slight improvements each year. The 32 strands over Main street represent a job that requires the work of the entire light and power crew for over a week. 14 poles had to be set and heavy guy wires run to meet State highway requirements.

Ladies of the Garden Lore club and the W. R. C. waded the strands of bulbs with evergreen with the boughs furnished by Dan Treleven from his pine forest. Decorations consisting of 96 stars covered with glitter, material furnished by the Lowell Board of Trade and labor by the Light plant.

Lowell is indeed fortunate in its Christmas decorations as do other towns in the state have been refused power by light companies to light their streets. In recent years, Lowell was unable to have these decorations because of power shortages and the war, which has been made up by the new diesel unit.

The Lowell Board of Trade announces that most Lowell stores will be open every Monday and Wednesday evening starting December 1st through December 22 and all day Thursday, December 18.

Pioneer of Bowne Dies At Age of 88

Christian K. Kilgus, a lifelong resident of Bowne township, passed away in Blodgett hospital, Monday, Nov. 24, at the age of 88 years. Mr. Kilgus was born in Germany, April 18, 1859, and came to this country at the age of three, living in this vicinity all his life.

Surviving are a sister, Mrs. Lizzie Sherman; a brother, George, both of Bowne, and several nieces and nephews.

Funeral services were held Wednesday, Nov. 26, at two o'clock at the Roth Chapel, the Rev. Paul Z. Hoonstra officiating. Burial in Bowne Center cemetery.

Railroad Officials Much Alarmed Over Acts of Youngsters

Michigan railroad officials are alarmed by the sharp rise in trespassing on railroad property by juveniles and in mischievous acts by youngsters that have resulted in wrecked trains, deaths and injuries among employees, passengers and the juveniles themselves, vast damage to railroad property and costly interference with railroad operation.

This week the Michigan Railroads Association is sending out to parents and educators pleas for aid in keeping children off railroad property. Juvenile trespassing on railroad property, the Association states, far surpasses anything in the past and is increasing. It recites the harm caused by boys and girls playing along railroad tracks, obstructions placed on the rails in front of approaching trains; stones thrown through car windows and passengers cut by flying glass; engineers wounded with air rifles; wayside telephone boxes opened; cables cut and instruments destroyed; switches and signal lights broken; packing waste stolen out of journal boxes of standing cars; freight cars broken into. The results are disastrous and costly, and, too often, tragic, including to the children themselves.

"These youngsters are not vicious or with juvenile court records, merely mischievous, poorly trained kids," the Association explains. "But that doesn't lessen the harm they do, nor the danger they face. Many employees are in their graves or permanently injured because of these youngsters, and the yearly number of school-age boys and even girls who lose arms or legs or are killed while playing around railroad tracks is staggering. Something drastic must be done to halt this. Parents, school and public school officials must be aroused and made to have a genuine desire to correct the situation."

WEDDINGS

Hoffman-Johnson

In a double ring ceremony performed Saturday evening, November 22 at 8 o'clock in the Bowne Center Methodist church, Miss Verda Johnson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Johnson of Bowne, was the bride of Mr. Cornelius Hoffman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Segar Hays of Ada. The couple exchanged their vows before an altar decorated with candelabras, baskets of white chrysanthemums and snap dragons.

The officiating clergyman was the Rev. Paul Hoonstra of Lowell. Miss Retha Johnson, cousin of the bride, sang. Because and I Love You Truly, accompanied by Mrs. Paul Hoonstra, who also played the traditional wedding music.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, selected a white satin wedding gown styled with a sweetheart neckline, a shirred bodice, long tapering sleeves and a full skirt inset with lace and ending in a long train. Her three-tiered veil of imported French illusion was draped from a halo of seed pearl and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white chrysanthemums. Miss Willa M. Bleam, maid of honor, wore a pink choffon gown and carried a bouquet of white pompons, with matching headress. Helen Craig and Lorraine Bloomer, bridesmaids, wore yellow and blue gowns. Mrs. Craig carried a bouquet of bronze chrysanthemums with matching headress. Miss Bloomer's bouquet was of pink chrysanthemums with matching headress. Miss Ruth Ann Shade, friend of the bride, was flower girl and she wore a pink floor-length dress with a blue headress and carried a basket of rose petals. Lee Schut, nephew of the groom, was ring bearer, and wore a white satin suit.

The groom was attended by his brother, Walter Hoffman. The ushers were Herbert Schut, Galmer Romeyns, William DeGood and Marvin Koning.

For her daughter's wedding Mrs. Johnson chose a dress of blue velvet and wore a corsage of pink roses. The groom's mother chose a dress of black crepe and a corsage of pink roses.

Following the ceremony a reception was held in the W. S. C. S. Hall. Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Schut were the master and mistress of ceremonies. For traveling the bride wore a bright green fitted suit with black accessories and corsage of white carnations.

The couple left for a two weeks' trip to Texas and upon their return will make their home near Ada. Guests present were from Grand Rapids, Lamont, Ada, Lowell, Clarksville and Sunfield.

Christmas With the Pioneers Held Deep Religious Meaning

CHRISTMAS on the frontier, as new bands of pioneers pushed ever westward to carve an empire out of virgin plains and wilderness, was in marked contrast to the present holiday.

There was more meaning than in the words of The Book concerning shepherds in a certain country watching their flocks by night. The solitude, the closeness of the stars, the virginity of the new world and its humble people made one feel that time had stood still.

Walking along the street in the local county seat, a man was attracted by frightened screams from a near-by house. He ran in to investigate, and found a frantic mother and a small boy who had swallowed a quarter. Seizing the child by the heels, he held him up, gave him a few shakes, and the coin dropped to the floor. The grateful mother was lost in admiration.

It was a lucky boy who awoke Christmas morning to find a new jack-knife in his stocking; a lucky girl who received a string of beads

Thoughts For Thanksgiving And All Year

We come to this Thanksgiving season with ample reason to be thankful. In a war-wrecked world our country stands undamaged, a land of plenty in a world of want.

We should be humbly thankful for our blessings, not take them as our due. We did not create this rich land and its free institutions; we inherited them. The men and women who laid the foundations of our country labored early and late to build them strong.

It will take good management to bring us and the world through the present crisis. Good management rests upon honest work, good husbandry on the farm, wise use of resources, and thrift in all things.

As we gather for another Thanksgiving, let us remember the new fortune. Let us pledge ourselves to produce more, waste less, save food that others need and put away all we can from our earnings to help build security for ourselves, the nation, the community and the world.

Tall Stories

A pheasant hunter opened the crop of his first bird, found it full of grasshoppers. He gave the grasshoppers to a fisherman friend who used them to catch a mess of bluegills in Sugarloaf lake. A pheasant, without feet shot near Rose Lake wildlife experiment station was in full plumage and good health, though smaller than average. The legs were completely healed an inch below the knee joint.

Mr. and Mrs. Don Cunningham, returning empty-handed to their cabin at Glennie after a day's fishing on Alcona pond, had a 2 1/2 lb. bass dropped in the road ahead of their car. They picked it up still flopping while an eagle circled overhead. Testing a suspicion that a lumberjack's full glass waterjug had started a forest fire in Ogemaw county, fire officer Albert Goodrich focused sun's rays with it, started blazes in two to three minutes.

When Smith walked into his friend's office he found him sitting at his desk, looking very depressed. "Hello, old man," said Smith. "What's the matter?" "Oh, just my wife—she's interfering with my office matters," replied his friend, sadly. "Just now, she's hired me a new secretary." "Well, there's nothing wrong about her engaging a new secretary for you. Is she blonde or brunette?" "He's bald."

Today, more than ever before, the work of the Sunday School is of vital importance. It develops the spiritual and moral character of our youth which is of outstanding importance at the present time. Religious education is just as necessary as the training provided by our public schools, and the value of the Sunday School in the proper guidance of our future citizens cannot be emphasized too strongly.
